Old Dominion Liner Hamilton Floated Out of Dry Dock.

WORK ON HER NEARLY COMPLETED

Vessel's Hull Has Been Cut in Two and Lengthened Forty-six Feet—Coastwise Trade Unusually Large Last Week—Marine Notes.

The Old Dominion Steamship Company's liner Hamilton was floated out of dry dock No. 1 at the shipyard yesterday afternoon after remaining in the basin for several months. Work on the vessel is nearly completed and she will soon be ready to resume her runs on the line between this port, Norfolk and New York.

While in the dry dock the hull of the Hamilton was cut in two and lengthened forty-six feet. She has been remodeled and overhauled and will look like a new ship when she leaves the yard.

When the Hamilton leaves, another ship of the Old Dominion line will come to the yard to be lengthened and overhauled. Every vessel in the company's fleet will come in turn.

BUSINESS FOR THE WEEK.

Coastwise Trade Unusually Brisk—Cereal Exports.

Exports of cereals to foreign ports last week were unusually light. On the other hand, coastwise trade was strong and the volume of business nearly reached high water mark. As an example of the rush in the shipments of merchandise along the coast, one of the transportation companies received 118 cars of miscellaneous freight yesterday. Passenger traffic was also reported to be unusually heavy for this season of the year.

According to the figures given out by the custom house officials yesterday the total export trade for the week amounted to 438,571 bushels of grain and 12,669 barrels of flour. Of that amount the Appledore, which cleared yesterday for London, carried 370,000 bushels of oats.

DR. SIMPSON IS INDICTED; WIFE IS UNRELENTING

Grand Jury Holds New York Dentist For Murder of His Father.

In Law.

(Special to the Daily Press.)

RIVERHEAD, LONG ISLAND, March 10.—Dr. James W. Simpson, the New York dentist, who shot and killed his wife's father, Bartley T. Horner, on December 27, has been indicted by the grand jury in Riverhead for murder in the first degree.

Mrs. Simpson, the doctor's wife, entered the jury room with head erect, her eyes showing cold and uncompromising through her veil, and told the same story she related so dramatically early in January before Justice Partridge in Northport. It was evident that she had not relented toward her husband, whom she has not hesitated to accuse of deliberately slaying her father.

Mrs. Simpson went over with the grand jurors the details of the shooting without displaying emotion, and was followed in the evening by her mother, Mrs. Horner, who was even more strongly denunciatory in her statements than her daughter. Doctors Heyen, Donahue and Frank, of Northport were examined in rapid succession. Tenthill Dayton caused a surprise by testifying for the defense after being called by the prosecution.

Dr. Simpson received the news of his indictment in the jail. "It was what I expected," he said. "I am not sorry, because it will afford me an opportunity to vindicate myself before the world. All that really needs explanation is Horner. Fancy my wife withholding $9,000 of my money while I am penniless and on trial for my life! I would not press her for it. Something has poisoned her against me. What that is will be fully exposed at the trial. There is not the slightest doubt of complete vindication for me."

ABSOLUTISM IN HUNGARY

Street Sales of Papers Forbidden—New Tariffs in Effect.

VIENNA, March 10.—The Crown's absolutism in Hungary is daily taking more extreme forms. The street sales of all newspapers have been forbidden, and the Crown is reported to have in contemplation other measures destined to hinder or destroy the efficiency of the press in reaching the public.

Oppression in the autonomous county governments continues. Public meetings are forbidden and one former deputy has been arrested on the charge of treason because of a speech which he delivered before a political club.

WOMAN BOMB THROWER

Would-Be Assassin Sentenced to Be Hanged.

MINSK, March 10.—Anna Izmailovich and Ivan Kulikoff, principals in the plot to assassinate the governor, prefect and other high officials during a funeral at the Cathedral, were condemned today by a military court to be hanged, though their attempt had miscarried.

A bomb was thrown and four shots were fired without result. Anna Izmailovich is the daughter of a general.

POINTED PARAGRAPHS.

General Smith Going Home.

(By Associated Press.)

MANILA, March 10.—General J. P. Smith, the future governor-general of the Philippines, has sailed for Hong Kong, en route to San Francisco. He will leave Hong Kong for that port on the Pacific Mail steamship Mongolia March 17.

THE DOG IN BELGIUM

HE PLAYS A LEADING PART IN THE STATE'S DOMESTIC ECONOMY.

The Canine Police of Ghent Are a Strong Factor in the Suppression of Crime—The Work They Do and the Way They Are Trained For It.

Every one is familiar with the important part which the dog plays in the domestic economy of Belgium. Anything and everything which falls to the part of donkey or horse in other lands is done willingly and cheerfully by these little creatures. But their use as servants does not stop with these ordinary duties, which can be performed by animals of no high intelligence. The Belgian dog has become a recognized member of the police force, and since his entry into this field of action crime in the particular districts which are patrolled by him is said to have diminished two-thirds.

This fact needs some explanation. Ghent is not only pierced by canals, but is surrounded by rich farms and land as well as by luxurious market and horticultural gardens. The city does a large trade in flowers and bulbs. The dock toners and floating population that shipping always brings are tempted to innumerable petty thefts, while the extent of the gardens and fields and the isolation of some of the farms make it extremely difficult for the authorities to cope with them single handed. In the hope of checking crime and robbery the chief commissioner of police obtained the services of dogs. He most carefully arranged every detail of their training, which is done entirely by kindness, and it is satisfactory to know that any member of the force would be instantly dismissed for striking a dog.

The methods used in training the dogs demand the utmost patience. Dummy figures are used, made as nearly as possible to represent the thieves and dangerous persons they may be likely to meet. The dog is taught to seek, to attack, to seize, to hold, but without hurting seriously. The first step is to place the dummy in such a position that it will resemble a man seeking to conceal himself. The dog soon understands that it is an enemy whom he must hunt and enters into this part of his lesson with delight, but it is more difficult to teach him that he must not hurt him. The teacher lowers the figure to the ground, and the dog learns that, though he may not worry his prey, he must not allow his prostate for to move a finger until the order is given. After the dummy, a living model is used, and as this process is not without danger, the person usually chosen for this part is one who takes care of the dog and for whom he has a lively affection. But at the same time he is prevented at first from showing too much zeal by wearing a muzzle. Afterward the experiment is tried on other members of the force, and in four months the dog's education as a policeman is considered complete, and he takes his place with the rest. The animals are also taught to swim and to seize their prey in the water, to save life from drowning, to scale steel walls and to overcome all artificial obstacles.

Most of these dogs are sheep dogs, but besides the Belgian there are also the Russian and the Briar dogs. During the day they take their rest in comfortable, loose boxes attached to the head station of police. But at 10 o'clock their duties begin, and the last stroke of the hour has no more than sounded before they set up a chorus of deafening barks, as if to show their eagerness to get to work. They are on duty till 6 the next morning, but do not seem fatigued by their long hours.

It is necessary that these hardworking animals should be well fed, and their menu for the day would not be refused by any hungry man. It consists of soup, meat, rice and bread, the last being the best Kneipp bread. They have a hearty meal twice a day as well as a biscuit and a slice of bread before starting on their night's round. Their uniform consists of a leather collar strongly bound with steel and armed with sharp points, to repel any attack from their victims. From this collar hangs a medal which bears the dog's name and address as well as the date of his birth.

Should the dog be lost or detained this medal serves to identify him. In place of a helmet he wears a fine wire muzzle, which will allow him to drink, but not to eat. This is to prevent him from being poisoned. It is fairly loose and is attached by elastic bands which allow it to be instantly snatched off the head. In their quarters there is a dressing room, where each dog has a peg placed beneath his name and from which hang the collar, muzzle, chain, etc., which belong to him. They have their private medical man, who keeps a close watch on their health.—New York Herald.

Towns Made While You Wait.

In the clearings the log house is a rarity, because the portable sawmill goes along with the timberman and splits the log into framing and boards for the dwelling—while you wait. And the people are even in touch with the world. If they have no time to plant telephone poles they nail the insulator to trees and run the wire through the woods. In the old days of the "plains west" the town was born when the saloon, the smith shop and the corner store threw open their doors. In this northwest the community springs into existence with everything ready for the daily life of its inhabitants. Not only are the stores prepared for trade, but the schoolhouse is awaiting the children, the church invites to Sunday worship, and it is strange if the town newspaper does not come off the press to its readers within a month or so after the birth of the future city.—Outing Magazine.

TALKS ON CHINESE BOYCOTT.

Missionary Born in Foo-Chow Says It Is Wu Ting Fang's Work.

(By Associated Press.)

STAMFORD, March 10.—Rev. Lyman P. Peet, president of Foochow College, China, addressed a missionary meeting in the Congregational Church last evening, and in the course of the address he spoke about the boycott. He was born in Foochow, and has spent most of his life in China.

Mr. Peet recalled the treatment received by two educated Chinese at the Boston Custom House a few years ago, and said that this incident had a great deal to do with the boycott. These two Chinese were treated by the customs officials as though they were coolies, and, although official explanations were made when they returned home, they exerted their influence, which was powerful, against America.

Just at this juncture, Mr. Peet said, Wu Ting Fang, who attained such popularity while he was Minister here, told his countrymen that there was only one way of making an impression on an American, and that was by means of his pocket. The result was the boycott.

Mr. Peet made only incidental reference to the recent outbreaks against missionaries. He said that animosity was felt more toward foreigners, as a whole, than toward missionaries.

JESUS A MERE HUMAN

Not of Divine Birth Says a New York State Minister.

(By Associated Press.)

ROCHESTER, N. Y., March 10.—The heresy presentations against Rev. Algernon S. Crapsey, for more than 25 years rector of St. Andrew's church, were made public today. There are two presentations, each containing two charges.

The first accuses him of "avowing and teaching doctrines contrary to those held by the Protestant Episcopal church," and gives 15 quotations from his books and sermons to sustain the charges.

He is charged with denying Christ is God, or that he was conceived by the Holy Ghost; the doctrine of his virgin birth; the doctrine of his resurrection, and the doctrine of the Trinity.

Specification 2 of the first charge accuses him of having taught on Dec. 31, 1905, that "Jesus was born of parents belonging to the middle classes, and that the fact that the early Christians predicted a miraculous birth to Jesus was to be regarded as one of the greatest misfortune; that had he been mankind."

The second charge of the presentation is that he has broken his ordination vows by making these utterances and by adapting these statements of the church, taken in connection with these public utterances.

BETTER ONE WORD.

Better one word, which being heard, Should ring through all the ages, Than books so wise that fancy flies In terror from their pages.

Better one spark of light in dark To the soul of him that falters, Than the taper's ray that burns all day.

On the grey cathedral altars.

Better one touch of love than much Of all the world adores.

When the lights burn low and the ashes grow Cold on the household fires.

And the best of success's call, Is the sense that the world is better For the work you did, and the way you did.

Some soul of a cruel fetter,—From the old Times-Union.

Macaroni With Sauce.

Break enough Macaroni into three quarts of boiling water salted slightly and cook for 20 minutes. Drain the boiling water off by pouring the macaroni into a colander, then pour some cold water through and drain well. Have the following sauce made:

Melt three rounding three tablespoons of butter, add two tablespoons of flour, and when frothy turn in one and one-half cups of strained tomato and one cup of any kind of stock.

Cook five minutes, add salt and pepper and then the macaroni until heated through.

The town of Turner, Me., had at one time no less than nine post-offices within its borders, while a neighboring town of far larger area was served entirely from surrounding towns.

Maynard Saves Norfolk Office. (Special to the Daily Press.)

NORFOLK, VA., March 10.—Congressman Maynard today telegraphed that he had succeeded in preventing the Norfolk hydrographic office being abolished along with a number of such offices in the country for purposes of cutting down expenses. It is contended that the discontinuance of this office would be a great blow to Hampton Roads shipping.

Woman Named Storekeeper.

(Special to the Daily Press.) WASHINGTON, D. C., March 10.—A woman has been made "commandant" or storekeeper, of the naval reservation at Sackett's Harbor, N. Y., after a spirited campaign. Many retired soldiers were applicants for the place, which pays one dollar a day, but Secretary Bonaparte decided that Mrs. A. H. Metcalf was entitled to the job.

Mrs. Metcalf is the widow of the last commandant. Her husband, A. H. Metcalf, was a Civil war veteran, and succeeded his father in the place. During the last two or three years of her husband's life Mrs. Metcalf has had the entire responsibility of looking after the place.

The annual salary of the commandant at Sackett's Harbor is the smallest in the naval budget.

Railroad Probing Ordered Begun.

(Special to the Daily Press.)

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 10.—The Interstate Commerce Commission this morning published a formal order providing for the investigation of the alleged railroad monopolies in coal and oil, in accordance with the Tillman-Gillespie resolution passed by Congress and approved by the President March 7.
